

Orientation and practice materials for all Steps and Step Components are available on the USMLE website at www.usmle.org.

If you are registered for an exam and cannot access these materials on the USMLE website, you may request the USMLE Orientation Materials CD. This CD contains most of the orientation and practice materials available on the USMLE website; however, additional information on examination content and test format is available on the USMLE website. To access all available orientation and practice materials, examinees are urged to use the USMLE website.

There is no charge for this CD. To request a USMLE Orientation Materials CD, complete and return this form to:
